Certified Radon Mitigation Contractors servicing Summit County

Radon mitigation is a key part of reducing your risk of radon exposure and cancer. The following list is of contractors who are certified by the National Radon Proficiency Program (NRPP) or the National Radon Safety Board (NRSB) and who have expressed interest in helping Summit County homeowners. A Radon mitigation contractor obtains a two-year credential to conduct and/or oversee the installation of radon mitigation systems in structures. Certified individuals have taken a class, passed an exam and paid certification fees. A contractor must complete continuing education requirements to remain accredited.

Certified radon mitigation contractors have agreed to abide by local laws, permits and standards for residential or commercial building codes, as well as the mitigation standards required by the NRPP or the NRSB. As with any home repair, it is a good idea to get several quotes and references on contractors. If a complaint on a contractor should occur, please call 800-846-3986 or file a complaint online at www.coloradoradon.info
